FOIA Control No. 2026-000235

Dear Mr. Armstrong:

This letter responds to your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request to the Federal Communications Commission (Commission) for the Block Diagram, Schematics, Parts List, and Operational Descriptions associated with FCC ID No. 22-5120W.[1]

The Office of Engineering and Technology (OET) searched for responsive records. On December 15, 2025, Commission staff contacted you to seek clarification on the FCC ID number relevant to your request.[2] On December 15, 2025, you clarified that the correct FCC ID number is 2BG2B-TS120W.[3] OET located 11 pages of responsive records.

On August 7, 2024, DongGuan RuiHeng Electronic Technology Co., Ltd. (DongGuan), had requested confidential treatment for certain records associated with FCC ID No. 2BG2B-TS120W, pursuant to sections 0.457 and 0.459 of the Commission's rules.[4] Accordingly, because the records you sought could contain confidential commercial information that would be exempt from disclosure under FOIA Exemption 4,[5] we informed DongGuan that if it had any objection to release of the requested data, it should submit a detailed written statement within 10 calendar days specifying all grounds for withholding any portion of the information requested.[6] Despite various attempts, we did not receive a response. We therefore consider DongGuan to have no objection to the disclosure of these records.[7]

[6] Letter from Andrew Hendrickson, Chief, Office of Engineering and Technology, FCC to Holiday Zhang, Manager for DongGuan RuiHeng Electronic Technology Co., Ltd. (Dec. 18, 2025) (citing 47 CFR § 0.461(d)(3) of the Commission's rules).

[7] See 47 CFR § 0.461(d)(3) ("In the event that a submitter fails to respond within the time specified, the submitter will be considered to have no objection to disclosure of the information.").

After careful review of the confidentiality request from DongGuan and in our own independent judgment, we find that the information submitted by DongGuan does not meet the requirements for protection under FOIA Exemption 4.[8] Further, as noted above, DongGuan's lack of response creates a presumption that it has "no objection to disclosure of the information," pursuant to Commission rules.[9]

To the extent that DongGuan is aggrieved by our determination as to the confidentiality of documents it submitted to the Commission, it may file an application for review within ten (10) business days of this letter.[10] If an application for review is not filed within ten business days of this letter, the records will be produced to you.

We are required by both the FOIA and the Commission's own rules to charge requesters certain fees associated with the costs of searching for, reviewing, and duplicating the sought after information.[11] To calculate the appropriate fee, requesters are classified as: (1) commercial use requesters; (2) educational requesters, non-commercial scientific organizations, or representatives of the news media; or (3) all other requesters.[12]

Pursuant to section 0.466(a)(8) of the Commission's rules, you have been classified for fee purposes under category (3) as an "all other requester."[13] As an "all other requester," the Commission assesses charges to recover the full, reasonable direct cost of searching for and reproducing records that are responsive to the request; however, you are entitled to be furnished with the first 100 pages of reproduction and the first two hours of search time without charge under section 0.470(a)(3)(i) of the Commission's rules.[14] Your request required less than two hours of search time and the records are being produced electronically. Therefore, you will not be charged any fees.

If you would like to discuss this response, you may contact the Commission's FOIA Public Liaison for assistance at:
